Extraordinary Journeys Offers Million Dollar Safari

June 4, 2013 -

Imagine 36 days of adventure and luxury in Africa, complete with your very own private plane and expert guide to take you through some of the most breathtaking experiences some may only dream of. Gorilla trekking in Rwanda, Big Five game-viewing in the Maasai Mara and the Serengeti, a visit to Victoria Falls and South Africa's Winelands.

Extraordinary Journeys offers the ultimate "Million Dollar Safari," starting at $809,600 for four people, affording travelers with the utmost in luxurious accommodations at lodges and camps all throughout Africa and exclusive access to once-in-a-lifetime bush experiences.

Renowned private guide Mark Homan, who with 18 years of expert experience, will lead travelers on a full immersion safari, providing them with first-hand knowledge of life in the wild. Travelers will visit exclusive areas where the ordinary dare not venture: Rwanda (Ruhengeri/Kingi), Kenya (Nairobi and the Maasai Mara), Tanzania (The Serengeti and Lake Tanganyika), Zambia (South Luangwa and Victoria Falls), Botswana (Linyanti and Okavango), South Africa (Cape Town and Winelands) and Mozambique (Quirimbas Archipelago).

Our favorite highlights include:

- Two-day gorilla trekking through the Volcanoes National Park
- One-on-one with giraffe at Giraffe Manor in Nairobi
- Hot air balloon ride at Sasakwa Lodge
- Swim in the Devil's Pool at Victoria Falls
- Tour of Robbin Island (where Nelson Mandela spent 18 of his 27 years in prison)
- Taste South Africa's best wines on a visit to the Winelands
- Relax on your very own private beach on Vamizi Island

Pricing for the 36-day "Million Dollar Safari" begins at $202,400 per person ($809,600 for a family of four), and includes luxury accommodations at renowned lodges and camps, private plane from the U.S. and tour guide, all meals, drinks, game drives, activities per the itinerary, 4x4 vehicles and entrance fees to game parks.
