There's an eclipse coming in November, and Extraordinary Journeys has put together a package that will let you experience it in the open Kenyan plain on the shores of Lake Turkana, where Richard Leakey and others figure humanity was born. The rest of the 11-day itinerary involves all sorts of luxury, from staying in a house in Nairobi where you can feed the giraffes from your window, to a bi-plane ride to see pretty critters, to a little John Hillaby-esque camel-ride. But the focus is the afternoon of Nov. 3, when you'll be driven out to see the eclipse the way the first humans did, before being taken to your mobile campsite, where you'll be served sundown cocktails and supper around the fire. It's all very planned and guided, so don't forget to spend some cash at the local small businesses, which you'll easily afford, because you'll have just paid $16,380 each based on double occupancy.
