

October 12, 2015

21 Reasons To Travel This October: News From Hotels, Cruises, And More

By Sasha Levine

Visit Virunga National Park With Extraordinary Journeys

Riding on the heels of 2015 documentary Virunga—the story of what happens when UNESCO-designated World-Heritage site, and home to a quarter of the world's 850 remaining mountain gorillas, gets caught in the crossfire of civil war—

Courtesy Virunga

luxury travel outfitter Extraordinary Journeys is hosting small, privately guided tours through the extensive national park as part of a 12-day trip through Rwanda, DRC, and Tanzania. From February 14-25, 2016, guests will partake in gorilla treks, chimpanzee habitation walks, visits to a gorilla orphanage, and a night of camping by the world's largest lava lake, before moving on to a Big Five safari in the Serengeti. From $13,000; extraordinaryjourneys.com.