Extraordinary Journeys Proudly Sponsors "Saving the Elephants 10K Run in NYC"

November 10, 2014 LuxeSoul No Comments

Check out the Saving the Elephants Run, a 10K through New York's Central Park, which will take place on Saturday, November 22 at 9:00 AM.

All of the proceeds go to the David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust, an amazing organization that focuses on conservation and the protection of Africa's wildlife.

Want to join? Here are some Q & A's:

Why are we running?

Elephants and rhinos are facing extinction if nothing is done about the current poaching problem in Africa. Between 2010 and 2012, more than 100,000 elephants were lost to poaching, an average of more than 35,000 a year. In Tanzania, 30 elephants are killed a day. At this rate, elephants in Africa could be extinct in as little as 12 YEARS! The crisis for rhinos is equally serious. Last year, more than a thousand rhinos were lost to poaching in South Africa alone and as of September 2014, more than 750 have already been killed. This is a horrible reality, but you can help by joining our cause.

- When: Saturday, November 22, 2014 at 9:00 AM.
- Where: Central Park, New York City
- Registration Site: bit.ly/savingtheelephantsrun
- Registration cost: $45

What will the day look like?

The run begins at 9:00 AM from the Bethesda Fountain in Central Park. Extraordinary Journeys team members will begin to congregate at the 72nd Street/Park Ave entrance on the East side beginning at 8:00 AM. When we're ready, we'll head over together to the starting line to begin our 10K! We'll have runners and walkers going at different paces, so you can be sure to find a buddy to go with. After we finish, we'll host a brunch* for our team members as a thank you and for a nice way to unwind and recover after a morning of exercise!

*Details about the brunch will be given closer to the date of the run and to those who have registered under the Extraordinary Journeys team name
