

Trips & Trends

NYC 10K Benefits African Wildlife

Monday, November 17th, 2014

Courtesy: David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust

Strap on those running shoes and get ready to help protect African wildlife.

The Saving the Elephants Run is a 10K that will take place on November 22 at 9 a.m. Safari provider Extraordinary Journeys, a race sponsor and participant, is looking for team members. They will also host a post-race brunch for members of its team.

Proceeds from the run go to David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust, an organization whose mission is to conserve and protect Africa's wildlife. Registration is $45.

To learn more about being a member of the Extraordinary Journeys team, send an email to pearl@ejafrika.com.

Registration can be done online (remember to select Extraordinary Journeys if you choose to run with them), while donations can be made here.

Tags: africa, new york city

More Trips & Trends

momondo Flight Searches

From

To

Departure

Return

Return Trip

Search

Subscribe to Val's Newsletter

Register here to receive Val's newsletter, chock-full of travel news, reviews and insights from her experiences on the road.

* Email

First Name

Last Name

* = Required

Join