Finnair Improves Service as Airline Celebrates 90 Years

By James Ruggia November 03, 2013 6:38 PM

Finnair, the world's fifth oldest surviving airline, on Nov. 1 celebrated its 90th birthday. As it enters its ninth decade, the airline has carved out a niche for itself with a strong 13-gate Asian network feeding through Helsinki to 60 European destinations.

Finnair also has made several service enhancements in its exclusively Airbus fleet. The improvements include tableware and textiles designed by Marimekko for use in both Business and Economy Class; menu offerings by Finnish chefs, Pekka Terävä and Tomi Björck, upgraded entertainment systems and more. In January, new fully reclining seats in most of its long-haul fleet will be installed and a new premium lounge will open at the carrier's hub in Helsinki Airport.
