Good news for Europe-bound travelers this year: FlightStats has named Finnair as Europe's most punctual airline and oneworld the most punctual alliance.

Finnair had the best on-time performance in 2014 among European major carriers with 90.58 percent of flights arriving on time.

FlightStats also recognized Finnair's oneworld alliance, which consists of 15 leading airlines from each global region and their affiliates, as the most reliably punctual airline alliance globally, with a collective on-time performance rate of 79.97 per cent. (The FlightStats' award is based on its analysis of some 32 million flights operated by 250 airlines globally in the past year – which showed that Finnair and oneworld members maintained a more punctual operation across the 12 months than their counterparts in the other global airline groups.)

oneworld's 15 member airlines and their affiliated carriers serve almost a thousand destinations in more than 150 countries, boarding 1.4 million customers daily. For its survey, FlightStats analysed 3,713,154 oneworld flights operated in 2014.
