Finnair unveiled the cabin layout and design for its new Airbus A350XWB wide-body aircraft. Equipped with 297 seats, the carrier's A350 will include 46 seats in business class in a 1-2-1 layout that convert to lie-flat beds and feature 16-inch touch screens and power outlets. Unique features will include LED lights to create a calming environment, a new air filtration system that changes air in the cabin every two to three minutes and WiFi.

"We have worked hard to create a special customer experience onboard the new A50XWB aircraft and are proud to bring Finnish design to Finnair's passengers," said designer Vertti Kivi. "Our Space Alive concept means dynamic lighting, colors and moods to suit the time of day, destination or season. For example, when descending in the East the aircraft can be awash in warm orange tones, or surface interiors may glow in fresh blue hues when arriving in Helsinki."

The carrier expects to take delivery of its new flagship long-haul aircraft next year and initially fly it to Shanghai (PVG), Bangkok (BKK) and Beijing (PEK), with Hong Kong (HKG) and Singapore (SIN) A350 service to be added in 2016.
