Sirio Restaurant: An Upper East Side Insider's Haunt in Partnership with Mother Nature

"Even though we're at New York's soignee Pierre Hotel, we're really a neighborhood restaurant at heart," says Marco Maccioni, son the eatery's namesake Sirio, founder of Le Cirque. "With a clientele of locals who have been everywhere and seen everything, we keep them coming back by changing the menu regularly in partnership with Mother Nature."

Right now Sirio is offering a Saturday and Sunday Spring Brunch: One cocktail such as the Sirio Bellini or one starter including Bresaola Carpaccio, plus a main course and coffee, tea or juice, for $35.
