

From Oregon's World of Speed to Vietnam's Yoga Journey

By Jeanne Cooper Published 7:17 pm, Thursday, April 2, 2015

Photo: Denis Rozan

IMAGE 4 OF 5

Learning Journeys' new Yoga Journey to Vietnam includes time exploring farms in the peaceful countryside, such as the lush rice fields in the Mu Cang Chai district.

New museum

Oregon: Get under the hood of vintage and historic race cars and motorcycles, including Indy, NASCAR and drag-racing models, as part of the "experiential" exhibits at the World of Speed, opening April 24 in Wilsonville, 18 miles south of Portland. Admission is $10 adults, $5 ages 6 to 12. www.worldofspeed.org.

New cruise

France: Go wine tasting in Bordeaux on the Garonne and Dordogne rivers as part of AmaWaterways' inaugural cruises in the region, beginning summer 2016. The eight wine-themed voyages (from $3,099) include a week aboard the 74-cabin AmaDolce, plus three nights in Paris and two in the Loire Valley. www.amawaterways.com/taste-of-bordeaux-2016.

New hotel

Zanzibar: Balconies off the Park Hyatt Zanzibar's 67 spacious rooms (484 to 538 square feet) offer views of the Indian Ocean and its harbors. Dining rooms and an infinity pool also overlook the local beach in Stone Town, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. From $210.

<http://zanzibar.park.hyatt.com>.

New air service

Nicaragua: U.S. travelers to the colonial city of Granada (pictured), the volcanic island of Ometepe or the tropical Corn Islands, among other popular sights, will be able to fly nonstop from the West Coast to Managua for the first time when Delta Airlines begins service from Los Angeles on June 5. www.delta.com.

New tour

Vietnam: Practice yoga on a junk boat, experience Mother Goddess worship and trance rituals, meet hill tribe members and farmers, and explore the country on Learning Journeys' new 11-day Yoga Journey, departing July 4. From $2,975.

www.learningjourneys.com/wellness/vietnam.