

Home > beauty

BEYOND INDULGENCE: DESTINATION LUXURY'S FIRST ANNUAL ULTIMATE GIFT GUIDE.

Editorial Staff October 29, 2014

0	32	1	0	0	38	0	0	0	1
Blogger	Share	+1	Share	Pin It	Share	Reddit	Stumble	Tumblr	Tweet

Follow us on Instagram & Facebook.

Hard to believe, but the season of giving is upon us. With that in mind, the team at Destination Luxury has put together what we feel is not only the best of the best in giving, but the ultimate in getting. Broken up into four weekly installments, Destination Luxury covers a spectrum of goodies – from the best in beauty, to what we like to call ‘off the beaten track.’ In this first installment, we offer up the opportunity for you to peruse a sampling of what we like to call ‘a little something for everybody’ — phenomenal getaways, the best of beauty, electronics to die for, and of course, a smattering of the ultimate in those beautiful pieces of machinery that get you where you need to go – and fast.

	170,393 LIKES
	4,355 FOLLOWERS
	1,237,631 VIDEO VIEWS
	12,574 FOLLOWERS
	1,559 FOLLOWERS

FOLLOW US ON TWITTER:
@DESTINATIONLUX

TRAVEL

12 MICHELIN STARS IN 7 DAYS: JOURNEY TO GERMANY'S UNEXPECTED CULINARY CENTER

Ditch the schnitzel and drop the bratwurst as Zicasso, experts in handcrafted travel, forges an edible journey to the world's most exciting new culinary center – the Black Forest. This vast expanse of hills, valleys, rivers and forests stretching 100-miles along Germany's southwestern border is home to some of the world's oldest Christmas markets, making this culinary journey perfect for travel during the holiday season as well as year round.

This fully customizable 8-day culinary adventure is priced from $3,590 per person double, and features seven 5-course dining experiences at Michelin-rated restaurants totaling 12 Michelin Stars, three 5-star accommodations, train transfers between cities, and a guided tour of Stuttgart's Christmas market and old town. This itinerary is recommended for Christmas season travel in 2014 and 2015, yet it is applicable all year round.